City Council Requires Use of Separate

Two Races.

First Gift $500, Afterward Increased to $4,300—Denies All Accusations of Immorality.

Baltimore, Sept. 25.—A race segregation ordinance was passed by the city council late today. Mayor James H. Preston had left the city hall and the document was taken to his residence, where he affixed his signature to it. The measure has the following title:

"An ordinance to prevent conflict and ill feeling between the white and colored races in Baltimore City and to preserve the public peace and promote the general welfare by making reasonable provisions requiring the use of separate blocks for residences by white and colored people respectively."

A house on Mosher street occupied by negroes who moved in yesterday was bombarded with stones and bricks for three hours tonight by white men and boys from roofs, windows and stoops of houses opposite occupied by whites. Then a crowd of negroes assembled and began a similar work of destruction on the houses of the white people. Several persons were injured by flying missiles.

Bitter feeling has been aroused in several of the fashionable northern suburbs of this city over the reported intention of the trustees of Morgan college, a negro educational institution in Northwest Baltimore, to move the school to a location in some one of these communities, where property for the purpose has been offered to them. Meetings of suburban residents have been held at which strongly worded resolutions of protest have been adopted.

Practically every community along the entire northern border of the city is being enlisted in the movement to keep out the college and a call which was sent out today for a mass meeting at Mount Washington next Monday night "to formulate protest and register a determined protest against the location of Morgan college at Mount Washington."

The agitation is deprecated by members of the executive committee of Morgan college. Chairman Charles H. Evans having declared that the trustees are "fully alive to the fact that negro colleges and schools are undesirable in certain localities and knowing this, he said, they were not going to force themselves on people who feel that their property will be damaged. Morgan college was founded in 1867 and is supported by contributions from the Methodist Episcopal church. It has branches at Lynchburg, Va., and Princess Anne, Md.

Banker and College Prof. Endorse the Currency Bill

Washington, Sept. 25.—Edward D. Hubert of Chicago, practical banker, and Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, expert on the theory of currency, today endorsed the administration currency bill before the senate committee. Both, however, proposed a number of amendments designed to alter the proposed methods for carrying out the purposes of the measure.

The desire of the committee to examine Mr. Hubert further brought out the fact that hearings on the bill will be continued indefinitely. Mr. Hubert said he was willing to return to Washington later and asked how long the hearings would continue.

The chairman of the committee can't say," answered Senator Owen.

"Oh, about two months," suggested Senator Hitchcock, who has indicated that he will oppose the bill.

Senator Owen throughout the day endeavored to hurry along the members of the committee, but met with little success. Senator Bristow protested that the senate committee should have all the time necessary to examine witnesses.

Regularly a schedule was fixed for two sessions in the future.

Senator Reed denied before the committee a statement accredited to him that the currency bill would not pass at the present session of congress. He said, too, that he resented any reference to himself as a "democrat insurgent" because of his position regarding the measure.

Mr. Hubert, who discussed the bill from the viewpoint of state banks and trust companies, told the committee that these instructions must be brought into the new system if it is to be a success. He suggested a number of amendments designed to make the plan attractive to the state institutions.

Both Mr. Hubert and Prof. Fisher criticized the provision of the bill fixing the 33 1/3 per cent gold reserve to be held against the proposed new currency. They recommended that the reserve requirement be increased to 49 or 50 per cent.

Miss Peary, the "Snow Baby," Is to Wed an Explorer

"The Snow Baby" is to be married, and she has chosen for her husband one who knew the trials and the cold of the region where there is eternal ice. Many millions of persons will recollect the "Snow Baby," the child of Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Peary, who was born in the Arctic circle.

The negation of Miss Marie Peary to Donald MacMillan, who was with Peary on his dash to the pole, has been announced.

Miss Peary was born further north than any other white child in the world, her mother being the first white woman to winter with an arctic expedition. The name "Ahniigito," Eskimo for "snow bird," was bestowed upon the child, who is the subject of Mrs. Peary's book, "The Snow Baby."

Dr. MacMillan is head of the Crocker land expedition, whose vessel, the Diana, was wrecked off Barge

Paint, Labrador, on July 15. The party continued on its voyage north on the Erik, but was unable to reach its winter goal, Flager Bay, this season on account of the ice. Dr. MacMillan planned to be in the far north for three years.

An attorney interrupted to ask if I had not previously given the girl another $100. The witness said he had, as he had been sorry for her.

He said that Mrs. Rosenberg moved to a new neighborhood and for four years he knew nothing concerning her.

"One day," he continued, "she telephoned me that there was in her place a girl who was the mother of a child and needed help. I called at the house and found the girl who testified against me here under the name of Helen Nieblas.

Money to Buy Rooming House.

"Mrs. Rosenberg and I wanted to buy a rooming house, so I gave her $500. Later I gave her $1,000 more. Then I went on a vacation and when I returned Mrs. Rosenberg told me the girl had invested the money foolishly in a poor place. I then gave her $2,000 more with which to buy another rooming house. I gave her $4,300 in all. I met Helen Nieblas at the Jonguij last January, when I called there to learn how the Nieblas girl was progressing. She told me her mother lived in Grand Rapids, Mich., and that she wanted to see her. I gave her $50. Mrs. Rosenberg told me the Barker girl wanted to marry a young man who was working in a shooting gallery. I went back with her to see the man again. Two weeks later I saw the girl again. She said she had foster parents living at Claremont, Cal., and wanted to provide for them. I gave her $300 more.

"I never saw the girl again until she testified against me in the court room.

Bixby swore that of the other girls who testified against him he knew only one—Grace Redwine. He denied in detail all accusations of immorality.

When he was excused the prosecution began an attempt to impeach his testimony. Arguments over the admissibility of evidence of one of the accusing girls was not concluded when court adjourned.

Octavius Moran, the aged architect, again proved an unwilling witness today, refusing to nearly all questions that to answer that would degrade him. He admitted, however, having given a total of $2,500 to girls in the Jonguij.

whether he had delivered him to Mr. Sulzer.

"I don't remember, but I know they took the cash I brought up to the house," he answered. "I think that Mrs. Sulzer took it and put it in a desk."

Dersch said Sulzer requested that if he got any more checks "to be kind enough to have them cashed."

Makes Check to Sarecky.

Simon Uhlmann, head of the Henkel Brewing company of Albany, testified he had made out a check for $300 for the order of Louis A. Sarecky.

"I told the governor that I would contribute to his campaign fund," said the witness.

Morris Tokulsky, president of the New York Liquor Dealers' association and a member of the general committee of Tammany hall, testified that he contributed $50.

The question as to the admissibility of the evidence on campaign contributions not cited in the articles of impeachment precipitated a heated wrangle among the opposing attorneys.

"These transactions—a hundred or more in number," asserted John B. Stanchfield, counsel for the prosecution, "constituted a common scheme, a design on the part of the respondent to display certain contributions and conceal others. I can see that the failure to report one might have been an accident, two a coincidence, but to fail to account for a hundred is a crime."

Attorneys protested that the articles should be treated as an indictment and that the governor could not be tried for offense not alleged in such indictment.

Presiding Judge Cullen overruled the objections. He pointed out that the governor's counsel had been given ample opportunity to request the prosecution for a bill of particulars. The court voted unanimously in favor of letting all the evidence in.

Want Testimony Stricken Out.

Jacob H. Schiff, the New York banker, was recalled to the stand after counsel for the prosecution at the outset of the session had made a desperate fight to have the mawg of his yesterday's testimony stricken from the record. That was—and he repeated it in substance today—that he had not intended his $2,500 gift for any particular purpose.

This was an admitted blow to the prosecution. Edgar T. Brackett, counsel for the impeachment managers, argued that since Mr. Sulzer had asked for the money to help his campaign it made no difference what the intent of Mr. Schiff in the matter had been.

Mr. Conlan said he had oral checks with him at the time and he had given one of them to Mr. Sulzer. They were made out to Mr. Conlan's order. His personal contribution was a $100 bill. "It was to help him along in the necessary work of the campaign that he was entering upon," testified the witness. "I did not limit the use of it in any way, nor did I attempt to direct what he should do with it."

The witness had not finished his testimony when court adjourned. Two different stories were told regarding the subpoenaing of Sarecky. He maintained that at no time in the last twenty-one days during which period the board of managers agents said they support Sulzer's nomination.

Gives Cash to Sulzer.

Stader said he personally cashed most of the checks collected from brewers and took the money to Sulzer's home. There was $800 or $900 in cash, he said.

Charles Dersch, a salesman for the American Malting company, said on October 15 he took two checks to Sulzer. The first was given him by Stader for delivery. Dersch said he told the governor the checks were "for campaign purposes."

"Sulzer told me, if I gave him any more checks kindly to have them cashed," said Dersch. On October 29 he said he delivered $700 in bills to the governor at his home. "The governor wasn't there and I gave it to his wife," witness said.

Jacob H. Schiff, recalled to the witness stand, testified this afternoon that the governor had recently offered to refund the banker's gift to him of $2,500.

On another occasion Dersch said he took some money to Sulzer's house on a Sunday morning.

"Why did you go on a Sunday morning?" asked a senator.

"Mr. Sulzer asked me to," Dersch replied. "He said he needed the money for traveling expenses. I took it to him in currency, having cashed the checks at a bank. He had told me that it would be most convenient."

"If you want to know what his wife said, I'll tell you," volunteered the witness.

"When I want to know what she said, I'll ask you," remarked Mr. Stanchfield.

Needs Little Money.

Bird S. Coler, the next witness, gave his occupation as a banker. He said that on October 24 he had written Sulzer a letter enclosing a check for $100. "I wrote him," said Mr. Coler, "that he was sure of being elected and that he would not need much money in the future."

At the opening of today's session Edgar T. Brackett moved to strike from the record the answer of Jacob H. Schiff yesterday in which the witness said he did not intend his $2,500 gift to Sulzer as "campaign expenses."

"The intent of the witness cannot affect the receiver of the fund," argued Mr. Brackett.

Louis Marshall of the Sulzer counsel argued against the motion. "This case should be considered," he said, "precisely the same as if we were trying an indictment—as if the defendant had committed the crime of larceny. You cannot be made the victim of a crime of larceny when the giver places no restrictions on the gift he makes."

Presiding Judge Cullen refused to strike out the answer.

"If it was a common law larceny," said the judge, "I should be certain that my ruling was correct, although there must be a trespass in common law. I feel that the same ruling should apply here. I may change my mind, but for the time being I must reiterate my previous ruling."

Judge Cullen added that Mr. Schiff's intention at the time and not his intention at the present time was the question that should be considered.

"That's all we want," commented Mr. Marshall.

Godwin Is Recalled.

Thomas M. Godwin, paying teller of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company, was then recalled. He was first questioned by Attorney John C. Stanchfield, concerning the instruction he had received from the attorney for the trust company not to testify to signatures that had not passed through the institution in which he is employed.

Mr. Stanchfield handed the witness a check of the Frank V. Strauss company for $1,000. The check was indorsed "Wm. Sulzer."

At first the witness was inclined not to identify the signature, but finally he answered:

"I am of the opinion that it is the signature of Wm. Sulzer."

Godwin then identified the signatures on the two checks he had declined to identify yesterday—those of Abram Elkus for $500 and the Lyman H. Spalding check for $100.

The witness testified to cash deposits totalling $14,400 made in his institution by Wm. Sulzer between September 12, 1912, and his inauguration.

Mr. Stanchfield called Abram Elkus to the witness stand after Godwin was excused.

Mr. Elkus said he had known Wm. Sulzer about twenty years. He identified a copy of a letter he had written taken at this meeting.

Mr. Sulzer October 4, in which Mr. Elkus, after congratulating the governor-elect upon his nomination, said:

Elkus Sends Check.

"I know congratulations are very pleasant and very nice, but a campaign to be successfully conducted requires something more than words and so I am inclosing my check for $500 to aid in the expenses of your campaign."

Mr. Stanchfield then produced the governor's letter in reply. It was very brief. It thanked Mr. Elkus "many, many times" and said:

"I appreciated every word you said and all you have done."

"I suppose," queried Mr. Stanchfield, "it did not escape your notice that in the reply there was no acknowledgment of the receipt of the check."

Mr. Marshall was on his feet in an instant with an objection.

"Objection sustained," ruled the presiding judge instantly.

Cross-examined by Mr. Marshall, the witness was queried as to his intent in making the gift. Mr. Stanchfield objected. This precipitated a wrangling in which judges and senators joined.

"I have grave doubts," said Judge Hiseck, "as to the admission of that evidence, but I have no objection to admitting it if we reserve the right to decide the question at the end of the trial."

Senator Brown objected that "one violation leads to another" and suggested that the vote be taken at once.

Mr. Stanchfield then withdrew his question.

"Did anybody communicate with you in New York city in behalf of Mr. Sulzer and discuss this matter of our contributions?"

Schiff Refuses Refund.

"Yes, Mr. Frankenstein came to see me and told me that if I would accept it Mr. Sulzer would be very glad to refund to me the $2500, to which I replied that I could not now, since the matter was under investigation permit the statute to be changed."

"To refuse to accept refund of the $2500?" asked the senator.

"I did not. It was never tendered me. The question was only asked as to whether I would accept it, to which I said no. The exact words were, so far as I remember, 'Governor Sulzer would like to repay you this $2500.'

The name of Mrs. Sulzer, who is reported, will be one of the star witnesses for the defense, was frequently brought into the testimony today. It was developed that she had a telephone communication with Ralph Tryer, vice-president of the Frank V. Strauss company in regard to a $1000 check which he had sent to the governor in behalf of Mr. Strauss, who was abroad. Tryer testified that Mrs. Sulzer told him over the telephone that the check he had sent was not in the envelope. Witness said he stopped payment on his check and sent a duplicate, which Mrs. Sulzer told him had been received. He added that Mrs. Sulzer and Mrs. Strauss were related.

Conlan Tells of Three Checks.

Judge Lewis J. Conlan, a friend of the governor for more than thirty years testified concerning three checks given to the governor by him, as follows:

Mr. Conlan said he had oral checks with him at the time and he had given one of them to Mr. Sulzer.

They were made out to Mr. Conlan's order.

Mr. Conlan's personal contribution was a $100 bill. "It was to help him along in the necessary work of the campaign that he was entering upon," testified the witness. "I did not limit the use of it in any way, nor did I attempt to direct what he should do with it."

TWENTY TIMES TOO STRONG TO DRINK

Points About Radiumized Earth Fluid, Vitalitas, That Thousands Are Taking.

Liquid Vitalitas as extracted and bottled for use in twenty times too strong for the human system. It should therefore be diluted to a twenty-to-one proportion when used. This liquid is of a heavy, dark golden color and as separated from the volatile substance in which it is found. One may gain an idea of the force of the fluid by merely touching the tip of the tongue to a cork from a Vitalitas bottle.

Aside from its natural medicinal properties, Vitalitas contains what is classed as "impregnations of radium" and it is this that assists in giving it its wonderful vitalizing effects.

One teaspoonful of Vitalitas in a glass of water is the normal dose and is not an unpleasant drink. Thousands of Texas people are daily finding new health and strength in this wonderful new energizer.

To old people whose systems are worn and who cannot stand the normal opiates, cathartics and other medications given medicines it brings natural new strength and renewed youth. ### STAMP CLERK "SHOULD WORRY"

His Time, Patience and Breath Are Almost Exhausted Explaining Things.

The daily experiences of the stamp clerks at the postoffice with postage buyers have made it uncomfortable plain to the stamp sellers that the average citizen is unaware of the new postal order that went into effect on September 1, declaring parcel post stamps acceptable for use on all classes of matter carried in the United States mails.

Many of the stamp purchasers upon receiving parcel post stamps from the clerk at the window shove them back immediately or return a few minutes later wearing an injured expression to inform the clerk that he has made a mistake. This entails an explanation on the part of the clerk, which consumes time and tries the patience of persons wanting to do no posturing.

Hoffman, Tom Should Worry.

Postmaster Hoffman has himself been up against it frequently, for the postmaster, with characteristic consideration for the men and ladies of his office, has been making a man-of-all-work of himself while the different attachés of the postoffice are on vacation. He has been lending a hand in every department, appreciating that with the absence of a part of the working staff additional labor falls upon the remainder of the force. Hence he finds himself frequently at the stamp window trying to make it clear to a man or woman who has never heard of the new order that a parcel post stamp will carry a letter.

It is the purpose of the United States postal department to speedly make postage of every description sold in stamp form valid on mail matter of all classes. When the present supply of parcel post stamps is exhausted no more parcel post stamps will be printed. Postage stamps of any style may be now used on any shape or form of mail matter.

Festival of Autumn Fashions Our Fall Opening Will Continue Today

EVERY visitor at this great store yesterday was lavish in praise of the superb assemblage of fascinating Fall Models displayed here, and the enthusiastic expressions of admiration that we heard yesterday have amply vindicated our belief that we have succeeded in gathering for this season the most complete and attractive array of exquisite style creations that has ever been displayed in Waco.

Our endeavor has been not to emphasize the mere incidentals of store decorations and other stage effects so strongly as in former years, but to center our efforts on making such a display of our wares as will show that we are maintaining absolutely the highest standard in style, quality and sterling value. That, after all, is the main thing you seek in store service. The public was invited yesterday with the distinct understanding that no one would be urged to purchase; nevertheless our sales—practically unsolicited—reached a splendid figure for such an inclement day.

Numbers braved the rain to come yesterday, and we sincerely appreciate the unstinted praise bestowed upon the store and its merchandise by so many of those who attended the first day of this Autumn Fashion show. Many were so enthused that they expressed their intention of coming again today. To everyone of them, as well as to those who did not visit us yesterday, we extend a cordial invitation for today.

The Hat That Won the $500 Cash Prize

Is one of the many attractions in the Millinery Salon. It is a Phipps Model and is called the "Rembrandt;" it is the model that won the $500 cash prize offered by the Ladies' Home Journal for the best trimmed hat of American make. Much admiring comment was also called forth by the new droop shapes of velvet and plush, in the numerous dark tones that are "au fait" this Fall.

In Suits, Coats and Costumes the variety of models and colorings is so great that it would be useless to attempt description; and anyway, as several visitors expressed it yesterday after seeing them—"they are absolutely too lovely for description." You must come and see them.

MRS. LORETTA REEVES ARRIVES ON SUNDAY

A NOTE FOR CLUB WOMEN ALL SHOULD HEED

Within the literary clubs much has been said about the possibility of securing the much needed probation officer. Since the close of the club year this has been done. Reverend Ingram, the appointee, will speak to the Federation of Missionary societies this afternoon. Every club woman in the city should make it her duty to be present. This is because the women should understand the scope and the policy of the probation officer in order that she may assist his work intelligently.

THE EDITOR MAKES REQUEST OF MORNING NEWS READERS

Now that we are upon the threshold of an opening season, the woman editor of the Morning News makes request of all women readers. This request is, telephone or send by post, the notice of all which is appropriate to the woman's department.

With the multiplication of clubs and social functions, with the many newcomers to the city; with the consequent demand upon the editor's time, she can neither inquire over the telephone, nor attend the many functions. Therefore, in order that all may be reached, and all represented in the report of the social life in this city, it is urged that notes be sent voluntarily.

Preferably these should be telephoned promptly or left at the downtown office of The News. If sent through the post there is delay, hence tardy appearance in print.

Pictorial Review.

An exceedingly dainty model for a dressing sacque, to be made of silk, lawn or batiste. Much of the charm of the sacque lies in the beautiful embroidery employed in its decoration. There are several rows of shirring at waistline which will make the sacque.

Sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 bust.

THE GOVERNOR NAMES FIRE PREVENTION DAY

Never before in the history of the state has a day been set aside for the prevention of fire. This, if we mistake not, is the direct result of club women's agitation. If women originated, then women must respond. Many have no conception of what such a day means. For the individual woman, every single one of them, high and low, rich and poor, it means that on the 8th day of October, every woman has her flues free from the possibility of fire. Electric wires in the home should be inspected. Every possibility of a stove's igniting the house should be removed. The gas stove should insure safety. But, more practical than all, the matches should receive a place where mouse and child can not reach.

Insurance statistics show that the match is the most frequent cause of fire. And yet, mothers will give their small boys matches by the handful for their play. Women will allow careless and ignorant servants to use explosives for kindling fires. Mothers again are not cautious with the use, by their daughters, of cleansing fluids for their gloves, slippers and such.

So, women of Waco, this fire prevention day means you in your own home with your own family. Read any fire insurance report; or, come nearer, and read the report of Chief Nicholson, our fire police, at any time. You will see that the large majority of fires is preventable by women. Property, suffering, and death is heritage of fire. Besides, there is the indirect suffering by loss of home and its belongings. So, this fire prevention day means something for every home, even though that home has but one room.

Let the fire drills for the children, and such, be in the hands of the school board. But take the details of glue, match, and stove, to say nothing of the coal oil can, under your own supervision.

Surely we every one of us left the fashion openings with the feeling of pride in our home shops. These shops did themselves proud and a Waco woman should feel the sense of shame if she sends elsewhere for what she wears.

Every once in a while we receive a small sheet telling us we do not know how to open a book; perhaps we do not, but add to this, that many of us do not know how to read one after we get it open.

And now the fences are disappearing from South Sixth. In proportion as these go, the city-like beauty appears. Let the good work go on.

Is it not within the province of the Euterpean club to see that the children in the ward schools march in and out to something more elevating than ragtime? We are not saying that this is not done now, but it is suggesting that our musical club make sure that it is.

Just a little while and we will be telling who occupies the boxes at the auditorium. By the way, Mr. Bryan, do have an eye to the appearance of your grass terraces and other spots, so that you may, in turn, do something for the civic pride of our city. You know the hundreds of strangers pass to the auditorium who go nowhere else.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggly, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff and falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

TRAVELING AGENTS.
Following are the traveling agents of The News, who are authorized to solicit and receipt for subscriptions, advertising, etc.: W. W. Lewis, F. E. Long, W. H. Byrd.RUSHING BOATS FOR THE CANAL.

Mr. Winthrop L. Marvin details in the Navy how for months Atlantic shipyards, and even those located on the Great Lakes have been busy building modern cargo steamships of thorough sea-going construction for the trade through the canal. Only a few weeks ago the vice president of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company announced that, on the opening of the isthmian waterway, his company would have 26 steamers for the trade between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

All of the vessels now or hereafter constructed in American shipyards for the coast-to-coast traffic through the canal are sure to be vessels of a size and general type that would fit them admirably for auxiliary naval service. Only two very swift passenger steamships have thus far appeared for this canal fleet. These are 25-knot ships building in the Cramp yard at Philadelphia. Most of the new Panama canal bottoms are distinctively of the cargo-carrying class.

Among them are eight new steamers of a speed of 13 knots and dead-weight capacity each of 11,000 tons—all for one concern, the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, which before this new fleet was added had already 18 American built steamships in commission.

These eight latest steamers are the products of the Maryland Steel Company, at Sparrows Point, near Baltimore. The 26 steamers under the American-Hawaiian flag would, Mr. Marvin points out, of themselves well be able to carry from 225,000 to 250,000 tons of coal, enough to supply the whole American battleship fleet on a voyage around the world.

BOOMERANG CRITICISM.

A few weeks ago Mr. Edward W. Bok published an article in which he criticised the English of several college students who had taken the trouble to reply to letters inquiring as to the benefit they had derived from a college course, and we are told now by Mobile Item that Mr. Bok's comments were not in good taste.

"Naturally a man who has devoted decades to editing copy is able to detect flaws in adolescent compositions," it criticises in turn.

"But the Bok article called forth an unintentionally amusing controversy. Dr. H. N. MacCracken, a professor in Yale, pointed out defects in Mr. Bok's English, some of them palpable and others hidden except to the refining genius of a college professor. After Professor MacCracken had committed to shreds Mr. Bok's ability to use properly the English language, Mr. G. Nash Morton wrote a letter to the New York Evening Post, in which he pointed with scornful finger to the lapses in Professor MacCracken's indictment of Mr. Bok. Now a correspondent of the New York Evening Post, signing 'G. S. D.' convicts Mr. Morton of using 'such' as an adverb in the very communication which called attention to Professor MacCracken's mistakes. And so it goes, a veritable daisy-chain in criticism of the use of English. Indeed, 'G. S. D.' cut his letter short because, 'frankly, I am afraid to write more, afraid I may have joined Mr. Bok, Mr. MacCracken and Mr. Morton among the critics to be criticised.' The correspondence has been interesting as showing the possibilities of criticism of the other fellow's English. Andrew Lang said, after reading a well-known work on the uses and abuses of the English language, 'I have hardly the heart to put my pen to paper.' But there is this bit of philosophy. What every great writer has been guilty of is pardonable even in the ordinary college student."

The Item's "philosophy" will pass muster. But there is also this bit of common sense: Editor Bok's criticism of those college students' "breaks" is not the first, nor the thousandth, endeavor by an eminent writer to remedy by publicly critical method the loose use of English in student bodies of higher education institutions. The defect lamentably obtains in colleges, except among they who are specializing in English composition, and every effort to improve this condition is to be commended. Also, we think Mr. Bok may be "passed" as an expert in English.

LACK OF DIVERSIFICATION.

"Build a wall around Texas and we would starve to death," says Peter Radford, former president of the Texas Farmers' Union, in making an appeal to the farmers to diversify. Texas farmers clothe 20 per cent of the people of the earth and do not produce enough food to supply themselves.

The Post's estimate of this plan reminds that for many years there has been more or less dissatisfaction, publicly expressed, with the conditions of army life for the enlisted man and its effect on him with respect to taking up civil occupation, when his enlistment term is over. Sensational magazine and Sunday newspaper articles have, truthfully on the whole, contrasted the lure of the highly colored posters at the recruiting offices with what actually happens to the man in the service. If the army really can be made a school of strong training for life along well-defined lines, a deal of the difficulty in obtaining young men of good character for this patriotic service will be done away with.

COMMISSIONS AND CERTIFIED MILK.

The first bulletin in the new departmental series of the federal department of agriculture, it is announced, is a contribution from the bureau of animal industry entitled, "Medical Milk Commissions and Certified Milk," a revision of a previous bulletin on the same subject.

The organization and objects of the first milk commission are described and the origin and meaning of "certified milk" are set forth. The word "certified" has been registered in the federal patent office and may only be used by a duly organized medical milk commission. The first milk commission was organized in 1893.

Since that time over 60 commissions have been established but nearly one-third of that number are inactive at present. About 125 dairies are engaged in producing certified milk and the daily production is nearly 25,000 gallons, an increase of 300 per cent in five years. While this seems a remarkable increase, it may be remembered that only about one-half of one per cent of the total milk supply of the country is certified.

While the chief demand for certified milk is for infants and sick people, it further serves to teach the public the value of careful methods in milk production and the extra cost of absolutely clean milk. The bulletin describes the equipment and methods necessary for the production of certified milk. It is pointed out that expensive equipment is not a necessity so much as a careful and unremitting attention to details.

In 1897 the American Association of American Milk Commissions was organized. The methods and standards for the production and distribution of certified milk adopted by this association at its 1912 meeting are given in the appendix to the bulletin.

The old adage of the effect of a surfeit of blessings or their misuses in a way comes home to the man who gets all his wealth directly from the soil—the farmer—more than to the human family with other vocations, in the case of the rain. It is a fact that one seldom hears that attempt at humor, "It really does rain in Texas, sometimes," except when the rain supply passes superabundance and verges on the hardship of surfeit. After the heavy downpour of a fortnight ago it was reported generally in this region that September had been wet enough for the growers' good and more rain would work much damage in the crop gathering situation.

Now, after 24 hours as heavy rainfall this district will be concerned to learn of the extent of loss and probable shortage and will hope reports will not be too unfavorable.

Nine times in ten a steady, soaking rain is welcomed in Texas, especially at the right season for crops. The tenth time usually means damage to the cotton crop in the picking; but in this, as in other situations beyond his control, the Central Texas farmer exhibits that philosophy which is a distinct aid in carrying him through an unfavorable time if not a remedy for the hardship.

Texas Viewpoints.

The Daily Texan.

"I enclose the first copy of the first college daily ever published in the South," Mr. John A. Lomax, secretary and member of the State University faculty, writes us in extending the courtesy of sending us The Daily Texan.It is a much appreciated courtesy: The Daily Texan is an achievement for the University of Texas of which the newspaper—for it now may be so classed—management, the faculty, the student body and the alumni may be proud. A students' daily publication in a large institution serves a very useful purpose—that has been demonstrated in the older universities of the east and middle west. The classification of "newspaper" is deserved since such a daily covers a wide field of news in presenting every 24 hours the happenings and plans and future busyness of all the university. There are many hundreds of old and young in Texas who will be interested in the Texan's change, its remarkable progress, from a semi-weekly, for State University's alumni and the families of its undergraduate body and members generally will be glad to keep more nearly in touch with happenings "on the hill" at Austin. As a semi-weekly special mediator of the department of labor, sent by Secretary Wilson to Calumet, Mich., to adjust differences between mine operators and strikers, found the relations between the men and their employers so seriously strained that it was impossible to bring them together upon any satisfactory or amicable basis.

It is this suggestion for a vocational training that bids fair to arouse the interest of congress and attract the best class of citizens to army life," comments the Post. "The trouble with the present system is that there is no inducement to young men just leaving high school to enter the army. They know that they would be tying themselves up for a period of four years, and that while they would obtain the benefit of military discipline, this would not aid them in making a living later on. But suppose the term of enlistment were reduced to three years, only part of the term being served with the colors! A

Discuss U. S. Alcoholism.

Milan, Italy, Sept. 25.—Today's discussion at the international congress on alcoholism dealt with the attitude of workmen and employers in the fight against alcohol, especially in the United States, Germany and Italy.

I am glad of an opportunity to get millions of young men just out of college would try to predict for the daily a long career of usefulness and popularity. This most enterprising innovation in Southern educational activities deserves hearty support from all in Texas who have the least personal interest in their university.

The Texan usually had marked success; there is every reason to predict for the daily a long career of usefulness and popularity. This most enterprising innovation in Southern educational activities deserves hearty support from all in Texas who have the least personal interest in their university.

Mr. Callan's Misinformation.

We have forbore for some days an expression of disapproval of the attempt of Corporal Claude Callan, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's "cracker," to qualify as an expert in concerns musical. But we feel protest is demanded by all who love their fellow men and abhor that "rag" that, if classed as "music," insults the d. s. s. that, we are told, hath charms to still something savage. Callan's comment is so palpably uninformed and careless and prone to arouse a feeling of nonchalance as to the quality of sound served up by the recipients of young men's nightly visits and the motion picture halls' ta-ra-matarrers that correction should have been essayed at once. We admit our fault. "If one," bluffs Callan, "who has taken his or her first piano lesson is billed as a great musician, it makes no difference, because the average person—the average man, especially—cannot tell the difference between an artist rendering a selection with a name so difficult that it requires years of study in foreign lands to learn to pronounce it, and a child's first effort on the "Tiny Tot's Waltz." We have, to be sure, been of the legion of critics, real and fourflush, that has deplored the American descent to "rag" and its sad effect on the cultivation of American appreciation of the sublime and American depreciation of the cheap. We have expressed our doubt whether the public has not made itself deserve those things that depend on "kid" expressions for their verse and on stolen mis-rearrangements of real music for their tones. But we have never fallen into a depth of artistic pessimism so submerged as to believe "the average man" does not resent being forced to listen to the efforts of a baby beginner on the piano—if the infant wonder is not his very own—and that he cannot distinguish between these efforts and the performance of the beneficiary of a 2-dollar concert in more than hair, apparel and spinal contortions. For shame, Callan!

The arrangements were made principally at the instance of C. K. G. Billings, the D. W. Miller estate, and estate of the late Anthony M. Brady heavy stockholders. All reside in the east and have their principal interests there. They desired that the Chicago Public Utilities should be administered by a Chicago board of directors.

Mr. Patten stated that while he himself was a heavy holder of gas stock,

Mr. Insull only recently purchased a few hundred shares in order to qualify as a director.

He said that recent notable buying of gas had been by the general public and not by the Commonwealth-Edison company nor himself, Insull or Mitchell.

Geo. O. Knapp of New York retired as president of the gas company and James F. Meagher of Chicago, first vice president, who long has been active administrative head of the company, was elected to the presidency.

CORPORATIONS HARMONIOUS

Chicago Public Utilities Concerns, the Largest in the World, Have Interlocking Directors.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Two of the largest public utilities corporations in the world—the People's Gas, Light and Coke company and the Commonwealth-Edison company of Chicago—will be under the harmonious management of a largely interlocking board of directors as the result of action taken by stockholders of the gas company this afternoon. An official statement explained that the arrangement is by no means a merger. Samuel Insull, president of the Commonwealth-Edison, James A. Patten and John J. Mitchell, directors of that corporation, merely becoming directors of the gas company.

Williamson, W. Va., Sept. 25.—Joseph Rhodes, 19 years of age, son of State Representative S. U. G. Rhodes, was found dead this morning in his room at home. He apparently had shot himself through the head sometime during the night. None of the family can give any reason for the suicide.

The boy's father recently was sentenced to the penitentiary, having been convicted of bribery in connection with the election of a United States senator last winter.

I. W. W. MEMBERS ARRESTED.

Nine Charged with Murder in Hop Strike.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Excitement was caused today at the national convention of the International Workers of the World when a telegram was received from Wheatland, California, announcing the arrest of nine members of the order on charges of murder. The arrests grew out of recent riots among hop pickers on the Durst ranch when a sheriff, one deputy and several employees were killed.

The convention decided to hold a mass meeting in Chicago Sunday to raise a defense fund and also to start a nation-wide campaign in behalf of the prisoners.

"We will arouse the working classes as thoroughly as they were stirred when Etter and Giovanetti were tried for murder in Massachusetts," said Grover Perry.

Delegates who started a movement to wipe out all central authority in the organization were defeated. Many of them were disgusted at the victory of the conservative element that they packed their grips and went home.

From a scenic standpoint it is simply magnificent; its four acts and seven scenes are masterpieces of art and a fortune has been spent on these alone. The architecture of the period of King Herod is reproduced with faithful splendor. The oriental magnificence with the hangings of gold and silver tapestries, Egyptian rugs of priceless value present a picture as pleasing to the eye as the story is fascinating and the music beautiful.

The story deals with the love of Salome for John the Baptist and the counterpart of Herod for Salome, presenting the eternal triangle—this time with all the weird abandon of primal life. It may not be a drawing room study for the department of young persons, but for vivid pictures in artistic environments it goes the limit. The interest never lags for a moment and even as a drama "Salome" would be supreme. Its fascination cannot be denied and to miss seeing it is to miss one of the greats of a lifetime. This wonderful dramatic story and scenic spectacle, combined with the beautiful music of Massenet, makes a combination never before equalled on the American operatic stage.

Starting at Naples, Italy, the company journeyed by easy stages through Italy, Germany, France, Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, England, Scotland and Ireland, and sailed from Queenstown on the Cedric for America.

Mr. Moss visited the banks and financial institutions in the different countries and went out among the farmers in the fields, so that he brings back a mass of first hand information.

He is convinced that the rebuilding of agriculture in the United States is more vital than the army and navy, and he has distinct ideas as to how it may be done. He found that Germany, with a soil that by nature is much more sterile than that of the United States, raises an average of forty-five bushels of wheat to the acre.

"Germany," he said, "not larger than Texas, and one-fourth of its surface covered with forests, raises 95 per cent of the products consumed by its 68 million people. From a country that formerly produced poor yields it has become the richest agricultural nation on the continent."

Georgetown, Tex., Sept. 25.—The campaign in Texas to raise $100,000 for Southwestern university here, started in Fort Worth recently by the Methodist Educational commission, has been placed in the hands of Dr. C. M. Bishop, president of Southwestern, and Dr. W. D. Bradford of Austin, together with two commissioners from each Methodist conference in the state. This movement will have "right of way" over other financial campaigns.

Southwestern has just opened with 700 students, the largest enrollment in its history.

LET'S WATER IN LOCKS.

First Time Since Start of Work, in Upper Gatun.

Panama, Sept. 25.—The admission of water for the first time into the locks of the canal was begun today in the upper chamber of the Gatun lock. It is hoped that all the chambers on one side of the lock will be filled tomorrow, in which event one of the dredges will probably be passed through into Gatun Lake. The filling of the locks at this time is largely in the nature of a test of the lock gates and operation of machinery.

MISS VAN ALLEN WEDS.

Granddaughter of Late Wm. Astor Marries in London.

New York, Sept. 25.—Advices received here from London today told of the marriage yesterday of Miss Mary Van Alen, daughter of James J. Astor, to Griswold Thompson, at St. George's, Hanover Square, in that city. The wedding was a quiet one. No festivities preceded or followed the event.

After the ceremony the couple left for a motoring tour of England. Miss Van Alen is a granddaughter of the late Wm. Astor and a cousin of Vincent Astor.

For several years Miss Van Alen has spent most of her time in England with her father. While in Newport she presided over her father's villa there. Griswold Thompson is a broker. He was born in 1875 and was educated in England and this country. The engagement was announced in England last June.

Change Church Name.

Jackson, Mo., Sept. 25.—The St. Louis conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session here, voted today in favor of changing the name of the church from Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in the University of Pennsylvania, was worried over two small inscribed fragments of agate found at Babylon, of which one was a fragment of a tablet, the other a fragment of a vase. He slept, and in a dream he saw a man who told him he must go to Babylon and find the fragments. He did so, and found them. He then returned to the United States and became a professor of Assyriology at the University of Pennsylvania.

Garros, Who Crossed Mediterranean, Now Contemplates a Long Flight.

Paris, Sept. 25.—Roland G. Garros, who today made an aeroplane flight across the Mediterranean, is quoted as to the possibility of a flight across the Atlantic Ocean. He believes this is quite possible, first from England to Iceland, second from Iceland to New Foundland, third from New Foundland to the United States. Two of these stages would actually be shorter than his France-to-Tunis flight and the third voyage but little longer. With properly

FACTORIES AT BISHOP

SILO MANUFACTURING CONCERN AND CANNING AND BROOM FACTORIES TO OPEN.

Account of Plenty of Electric Power for the Plants Being Assured.

Bishop, Tex., Sept. 25.—Three new factories soon are to be established in Bishop. They include a silo factory, a canning factory and a broom factory. Plans for these three new establishments have been made and preparations are under way for beginning the work of installation at an early date. Manager M. Nuckols of the Bishop Ice and Cotton company has been authorized to arrange the final details for the building of the factories, which will be supplied with water and power from his plant, west of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railroad. Mr. Nuckols will decide on the details of these industries as soon as the ginning season is over, which will be in a few weeks. He is commissioned to install the best and most approved machinery and equipment in each of the new plants, especially the silo factory, which, it is expected, will start out with a large list of orders on account of the growing popularity of the silo and the consequent increasing demand for it. The valley country to the south will be accessible easily and it is the purpose to make the factories on a scale that will be able to meet the growing demand.

Broom corn of the finest quality has been grown in this section and a number of farmers are enthusiastic in their desire to grow it if a market is opened for the product. This will be done by the installation of the broom factory and assurance is given that there will be a sufficient acreage of the broom corn planted next season to keep the factory at work to its capacity.

The canning factory has long been under consideration here and as plans have been made for an extensive increase in truck farming there will be a good supply of material for the new factory to work on from the time it is ready for work.

The power and water supply of the Bishop Ice and Cotton company is more than sufficient for the requirements of all these new enterprises, and the water is of the purest and softest quality.

The inauguration of these new industries here means a large gain in the commerce and trade of the city, as the payrolls of the factories will be large and other industries will be encouraged to come in and open operations here.

EXPERT TESTIFIES IN DUD REED CASE

SAYS DECAPITATION, AND NOT HEART STAB, KILLED JOHN RICHIEY.

PLEA OF INSANITY EXPECTED

Prosecution Introduces Testimony Obviously to Forestall Effort to Show Reed's Insanity.

Introduction by the prosecution of the testimony of a witness who qualified as an expert on human anatomy with a view to showing that the wound which caused the death of John Richiey was not that which pierced the heart, but the slash which severed his head from the body, was the most interesting part of the procedure of the trial of Dud Reed, charged with first degree murder, in the Fifty-Fourth District court yesterday. The state introduced testimony of the deputy sheriff who arrested Reed the night of the crime, which was intended to combat the evident intention of the defense to plead temporary insanity as a basis for reducing the degree of the crime or mitigating the punishment.

Defense Scores Point.
The defense also introduced evidence to show that the blood which had been testified to Wednesday as smearing Reed's face might have come from a cut on the lip or from a bleeding nose. The state rested its case at 4 o'clock and the defense began the introduction of testimony.

Reed, together with Bounce Beatty and Buss Wyres, is charged with Richiey's murder. The head of the dead man was severed from his body.

Undertaker Testifies.

Dave Denning, an undertaker of Marlin, was the first witness for the state. He qualified as an expert on the human anatomy and circulation of the blood, and gave it as his opinion that Richiey's death came from the severing of the head. Mr. Denning assigned as his reason for this opinion that if the stab in the heart had caused Richiey's death blood would not have spurted from the neck wound, but would have passed out of the body by gravitation. He also testified to taking charge of the dead man's body and as to the nature of the wounds. He described the wounds much in the manner as the testimony of Sheriff M. J. Pool of Falls county, who was on the stand the preceding day. These consisted of a knife thrust to the heart and the gash which severed the head. There were three gashes on one side of the neck and at the back and on the other side the skin appeared to have been cut smooth.

Prosecution Probes Deep.

The state went into with various witnesses the nature of the blood stains on the ground and embankment near which the body lay to prove that blood spurted from the neck wound some distance from the body.

Following Denning on the stand Walter Cook, a negro, was called by the state. He testified as follows:

"I was going on the road out of Marlin when Mr. Richiey overtook me in his buggy. He let me ride with him. We met Buss Wyres. Bud Reed and Bounce Wyre on horseback. Wyres asked the time of day and rode away. Later he turned back and said to Mr. Richiey: 'You killed my brother when I was a little kid.' Mr. Richiey told him, 'Yes, I did kill him,' and Wyres said, 'I will never mistreat you.' The three men then rode on. We had stopped to fix the harness to the horse. Later the three men turned back and took a drink and we met them again. Soon Mr. Richiey missed a paper and turned back to find it. We again met Reed, Wyres and Beatty. I got out to get the paper and Bud Reed climbed on the back of the buggy and opened his knife. I got frightened and ran away. This was about a mile from Big Sandy bridge." Will Davis, also a negro, testified that he had seen Reed, Beatty and Wyres together.

The state closed with Wren's testimony.

Defense Calls Witnesses.

Jim Arnett, city marshal of Marlin, who accompanied Wren and Clyde to the scene of the crime, was called as the first defense witness. He said he saw Reed, Bounce Beatty and Buss Wyres under the Big Sandy bridge abutment, and did not see them cross the creek or go up the bank. He said Reed was drinking, and was pretty full, but I have passed up some drunkenness.

The defense closed with the state objecting to anything said by the defendant after the commission of the crime. The defense insisted on the whole of what happened at the bridge, and the court overruled the objection of the state. Mr. Wren said: "I took Reed to the bridge. I said, 'Dad, look what they are doing to you boys down here tonight.' He said, 'Oh, that's Clyde.' I said, 'Dad, you know that is not Clyde.' He fell over and lay there a minute, and another man picked him up. He said, 'I am gone.' I stopped him, saying to him, 'You are not fully gone yet.' He called for Lou—I think that's his mother—and he also called for his mother. He went to sleep lying where he was near the body and slept probably fifteen minutes. He awoke and said, 'I could not stand to look at my dead father, and I will not look at this man.'"

The defense asked if Reed had not said, "Oh, they have killed Clyde." The witness answered, "No." He had said, "Oh, it's Clyde," and spoke loud. Wren said he was searching for Reed's hat when Robert Hammers, who was helping him, found the body.

Says Wyres Was Sober.

On cross-examination, Wren said Buss Wyres was sober and that Reed had told him Wyres had not done anything; had only separated him and Beatty from fighting. Wyres was released that night. Eighteen days later he was arrested at Nacogdoches, Tex., tried at Marlin for Richiey's murder, convicted and sentenced to hang. The witness said he found Wyres under a house near Nacogdoches when he arrested him.

Find Skeleton of Child in Walls of Old Snell Home

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 25.—The mansion at Clinton, Illinois, erected forty years ago, by Col. Thomas Snell, yielded another sensation today when it was learned that the skeleton of a child in a home made coffin had been found skillfully concealed within a wall. Wreckers tearing down the residence made the gory discovery which adds another chapter to the stormy history of Col. Snell, who died about seven years ago and for whose fortune a famous fight was made in the courts of Illinois. The body of the child had been buried in a sarcophagus with a sliding cover, which easily opened, exposing the bones, when the house wreckers found it.

The workmen threw the box with its contents into the yard and it remained there two days before it was turned over to the police. A hurried inquest was held, an open verdict was returned and the town supervisor took charge of the body, burying it in the public cemetery.

"We have no idea as to how long it had been in the wall," said O. F. Burr, Clinton's chief of police, talking over the long distance telephone. "There was little flesh remaining and the box must have been concealed many years ago. Col. Snell himself built the mansion about forty years ago and lived in it up to the time of his death. The house has been occupied since that time by several of the family, though vacant a year. The story of Col. Seaborn Roddenberry Dies After a Brief Illness—Three Elections to Congress.

Thomasville, Ga., Sept. 25.—Congressman Seaborn Roddenberry, representative from the Second Georgia district, died at his home here today after a brief illness. Last week in Washington he was seized with nervous prostration and came home to recuperate. Sunday his condition became serious and Tuesday he lapsed into a state of partial coma, from which he never emerged.

Representative Roddenberry's career embraces two terms in the lower house of the Georgia legislature in the early nineties, four years as circuit judge and three elections to congress. He was first chosen to fill an unexpired term in February, 1910, and was re-elected to the Sixty-Second and Sixty-Third sessions.

He is survived by a widow and five children.

GIN ACCIDENT AT PERRY, TEX.

Allen McAlester Loses Arm When He Falls Against Saw—Head and Body Bruised.

Perry, Tex., Sept. 25.—Oil on the floor near a gin stand caused Allen McAlester, employed in the gin plant here, operated by the Independent Gin company, to receive serious injuries yesterday afternoon, when he slipped and fell against the gin saw.

Before the machinery could be stopped McAlester's right hand was caught in the saw up to the shoulder. After he was released it was found that the arm was hanging by a mere shred, and amputation was found necessary. A physician was summoned as soon as possible and Mr. McAlester removed to his home. He lives at this place.

The doctor who is attending the injured man believes he will recover, unless blood poison or some other unfavorable symptom should develop. He had an armful of cotton in his hand when he fell against the saw, and some of this was virtually ground into his flesh by the saw.

Mr. McAlester was married in March of this year. He is highly esteemed in the Perry community. His head is bruised and cut and his body bruised in many places.

CONFEREES RUN INTO DEADLOCK

ADJOURN WITH THE TARIFF
BILL STILL INCOMPLETE.

REPUBLICANS WILL OPPOSE

Claim Conference Committee Has Inserted New Matter in Proposed Measure.

Washington, Sept. 25.—After finishing up all but about half a dozen points of difference between senate and house the tariff bill conference ran into another deadlock today and adjourned tonight with the conference report still incomplete. Three important matters were still at issue, the tariff rates on cotton yarns and cotton cloths and on lead and zinc ores and the dates when free raw wool and changes in the woolen goods tariff should become effective.

Members of the conference committee could not predict tonight how soon an agreement could be reached on these items. With the aid of experts they spent the afternoon going over the cotton schedules and calculating the effect on the woolen industry of the proposed changes.

Both houses of congress gave up hope of a report from the conference committee tomorrow, the house adjourning until Saturday and the senate until Monday. The report may go into the house Saturday.

There were rumors today of strong opposition to the report that might develop in the house on the ground that the republicans had not been taken into the conferences that worked out the details of the measure.

If such opposition appears it probably will take the form of a point of order against the bill on the ground that it contains matter inserted with authority by the conference committee. In several instances the conference have changed provisions in such a way that some members of congress declare that new legislation has been added to the bill. The conferees insist, however, that they have acted wholly within their powers and democratic leaders do not anticipate any marked delay in action on the measure.

Senate conferees won their fight against the anti-dumping clause which would assess an extra duty against goods "dumped into this country at reduced prices."

The senate agreed to adopt an amendment requiring rectifiers to pay for the stamps used on packages of distilled spirits filled by rectifiers or wholesale liquor dealers.

Reports indicate the rainfall extended from Oklahoma as far south as Houston.

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND COSTIVE!-CASCARETS

Sick Headach or Sour Stomach Means Sluggish Liver and Bowels.

Get a 10-cent box now. Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which poisons and irritates like a scorpion's sting. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

RAINS OVER THE STATE

ARE HEAVY AND GENERAL, ACCOMPANIED BY SHARP DROP IN TEMPERATURE.

Frost Is Feared in West and Panhandle Section—Cotton Damaged in Some Parts.

Dallas, Sept. 25.—A heavy general rain, accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature, was reported throughout Central and West Texas today. In some instances a maximum of four inches was reported and most points reported two inches or more. Around Amarillo the temperature dropped to 40 degrees and frost is feared.

Damage to unpicked cotton is mentioned at some points as being considerable, the staple having been beaten to the ground.

Advices from other places say the precipitation has been beneficial to fall grain.

Reports indicate the rainfall extended from Oklahoma as far south as Houston.

Heavy at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Sept. 25.—One and one-seventh inches of rain fell here since yesterday, materially aiding the grass for cattle, but unwelcome to the cotton raisers, as it lowers the grade of the staple.

Plains Got Rains.

Amarillo, Sept. 25.—The entire plains country has been covered by a chilling rain which fell since early last night. Advices of heavy sleet through eastern New Mexico have been received. The temperature dropped to 40 in Amarillo and fears of frost are entertained. This would result in great loss to farmers and cattle.

Hard Rain in Vernon.

Vernon, Sept. 25.—The rainfall here during last night was the hardest in two years. This rain will put good season in the ground for wheat sowing.

At McKinney.

McKinney, Sept. 25.—A big rain fell here this morning about 3 o'clock. Farmers who were in town this morning say it will delay cotton picking the balance of the week.

Damages Crop at Cleburne.

Cleburne, Sept. 25.—A two-inch rain fell here this morning will cause serious damage to cotton, much of which will be blown to the ground by high winds last week.

Around Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Sept. 25.—Heavy rains started this morning at 3 o'clock. They are still falling throughout this section. The doctor who is attending the injured man believes he will recover, unless blood poison or some other unfavorable symptom should develop. He had an armful of cotton in his hand when he fell against the saw, and some of this was virtually ground into his flesh by the saw.

Mr. McAlester was married in March of this year. He is highly esteemed in the Perry community. His head is bruised and cut and his body bruised in many places.

Rains at Houston.

Houston, Sept. 25.—Slow rain is reported falling throughout this section this morning.

Hard Rain at Gatesville.

Gatesville, Tex., Sept. 25.—A very hard rain fell here today for six hours more than two inches of water falling. Dodd's creek that empties in the Leon opposite town has overflowed the banks, doing great damage to crops. The Leon is almost bank full and is still rising. Heavy rains above here will put it out over farms.

Dead Body Found Quarter of an Hour After He Had Left Wife and Children.

Jack Gordon, aged 38, a Katy fireman, sprung an electric trap at the gate of the Cotton Palace park yesterday morning and was instantly killed.

The barbed wire which runs around the top of the park fence became charged with 2,300 volts of electricity when a wire broke some time during the night and fell upon the fence. If there had been any connection between the barbed wire and the ground, the instruments at the power house would have indicated the break within a few minutes after it occurred, but there was no connection with the ground and no sign at the power house that a break had occurred.

The fatal circle of electricity hung suspended about the park until the body of Jack Gordon furnished the path down which it could pass to the earth.

Umbrella Tip Touched Wire.

As Gordon, on his way to work, passed through the rear gate of the grounds, the tip of the umbrella came into contact with the wire just above his head and he was hurled back lifeless. His body, with the head and hand burned and the umbrella crushed about his face, was found at 6:35 yesterday morning by T. E. Smitherman, who was about fifteen minutes after Gordon had left his wife and children on his way to town.

When Smitherman discovered the body he haled A. O. Harland, who was driving past in a grocery wagon. Harland notified the police station and Chief Hollie Barron went at once to the scene, accompanied by Patrolman F. A. Craven, and remained until the arrival of Justice of the Peace H. M. Ritchey, who held a preliminary inquest. The body was then removed to an undertaking establishment.

Night Watchman Shocked.

W. B. Head of the power and light company said yesterday that the wire which broke was practically new, having been in service less than a year. It probably broke at an early hour in the night, for W. B. Cheever, night watchman at the park, received a slight shock on one of his early rounds. He received the current in a modified form when he leaned on one of the walls of a building with which the wire had come in contact.

Mr. Cheever cut off the current from the machinery hall, from which he judged that the shock had proceeded. Gordon had been in the Katy employ for the past sixteen years. For the past four months of his life he was fireman on a switch engine in the Katy yards here. He leaves a wife and two children, aged 8 and 6, as well as a sister, Mrs. Mary Womack.

Old Friends in Waco Recognize It and Heartily Welcome Him.

J. F. Henderson, who probably holds the record for the longest tenure of any of the employees of the Southwest Telegraph and Telephone company in this state, was a visitor to Waco yesterday and spent much time with his friends of other days.

Thirty years ago Mr. Henderson was a lineman in Waco. At that time he was a close friend of George W. Tilley, since then for years sheriff of this county. He and Mr. Tilley have not met for a quarter of a century until this visit to Waco by the telephone man, and they spent a pleasant hour talking over old times.

His Profitable Farewell.

Mr. Henderson makes headquarters in Fort Worth and has home quarters on the interurban between Fort Worth and Arlington. He saw the possibilities of development when the interurban was first constructed and bought ten acres alongside the track. He has found it a profitable investment, as he has sold part of his holdings for more

English Goffers Beat Pittsburg Players in Thirty-six Holes.

Pittsburg, Sept. 25.—Edward Ray and Harry Vardon, British professional golfers, defeated E. M. Evers and W. C. Fowles Jr., former American national amateur champions, in a thirty-six hole best ball foursome here today. The Americans were off in their putting, losing half the round after taking the greens easily. At the end of the afternoon round the Britishers were one up and in the afternoon round outplayed the Americans.

During the afternoon Evers repeatedly got into trouble, dropping into the sand pits and bunkers, from which he extricated himself with some ungracious shots that drew the applause of the gallery.

Vardon's playing, both in the afternoon and morning, drew much applause from the gallery and in the morning round, without preliminary practice, he went the eighteen holes in 74 and in the afternoon in 72.

Rain Retards Billposting.

The rain yesterday seriously interfered with the work of the Wild West advertising agents. The first car confines itself most exclusively to the rural districts, and the crew of thirty men spend most of their time in the country. The van has a tendency to cause the paper posters to fall off the barns and fences on which they are posted, and the men on the car worked hard yesterday. The lithographer, whose work is to hang the pictures in windows, were incessantly busy in the downtown district. Two more cars, each a week apart, will follow and two brigades of agents who attend to the special billings will visit the city before the show itself arrives.

"The time has past," said the orator haughtily, "when any man can hide himself behind a woman's petticoats." "You bet," commented the civic in the back seat. "Those X-ray skirts have stopped that."—Buffalo Express.

Detroit, Sept. 25.—Members of the Detroit American league baseball club here today confirmed a report that the baseball players' Fraternity had drafted a series of demands which are to be presented to the owners of major league baseball clubs during the winter for their approval, after which they will be submitted to the national commission with the request that they be made part of the laws governing organized baseball. It was said that already 90 per cent of the members of the players' Fraternity have endorsed the proposition.

Four important demands are under consideration, it is understood. They are: No player who has been a member of a major league club for ten years shall be given other than his unconditional release.

No player who has been a member of major and minor league clubs, inclusive, for twelve years shall be given other than his unconditional release.

No player who has been carried on a major league club payroll until July shall be released to the minors unless waivers are secured from the sixteen clubs of the American and National leagues.

No major league club owner shall be prohibited from signing a player who has an opportunity to play on a major league club until the late months of the season, thus taking advantage of the time when the teams are carrying question to send the player in question to the minors.

Many major league ball players are reported to be willing to agree to refuse to sign further contracts until the contracts of the fraternity are accepted.

BUSY BOYS AHEAD OF "101"

Miller Brothers' and Arlington's Big Wild West Shows Here October 16.

The first advertising car of the 101 Ranch Real Wild West spent all day yesterday in town heralding the coming of the largest exhibition of its kind to Waco on Thursday, October 16, just three weeks from today. Since the enforced retirement and subsequent bankruptcy proceedings of Buffalo Bill, the 101 Ranch has mounted to the place so long occupied by the famous plainsman, and is now the real successor and without a competitor, although the 101 Ranch has always occupied a peculiar niche of its own in the show world, confining its performance entirely to the west.

Rain Retards Billposting.

The rain yesterday seriously interfered with the work of the Wild West advertising agents. The first car confines itself most exclusively to the rural districts, and the crew of thirty men spend most of their time in the country. The van has a tendency to cause the paper posters to fall off the barns and fences on which they are posted, and the men on the car worked hard yesterday. The lithographer, whose work is to hang the pictures in windows, were incessantly busy in the downtown district. Two more cars, each a week apart, will follow and two brigades of agents who attend to the special billings will visit the city before the show itself arrives.

The 101 Ranch show has a large force of men in the advance. Especially in the west the program is keenly appreciated, because every spectator is vitally interested in the tricks presented. The medal winners of the recent "Stampede" at Winnipeg are all included in the personnel, and those in the arena, from the highest to the lowest, are all employees of the famous 101 Ranch near Bliss, Okla. Joe C. Miller is the arena director, his brothers taking care of the ranch, while Edward Arlington is in charge of the advance work and preliminary advertising campaigns. He is accredited the best advertising expert in the country.

Play Polo from Autos.

Auto polo is the big thriller with the exhibition this season. Instead of using pugilistic ponies, racing cars are employed, and the fact that the originators of the game are at the steering wheel is evidence enough that the game is played for all it is worth at such performance. On the ranch Miller Brothers make a specialty of breeding and breaking polo ponies for the northern markets, and the most expert cowboys appear as the mallet men. The game develops a most sensational aspect, the machines making the most remarkable stops and starts in the arena. It is a case of firing with accident and death, and the contest never fails to bring spectators to their feet.

Iron Tail, said to be the Sioux Indian chief whose profile adorns the new nickel, is another feature of interest. A parade will be given exhibition day morning.

To Begin New Sewer Work.

Street Commissioners Foster said yesterday that work would begin Monday on the Herring avenue sewer. The line of the sewer has been changed from that at first outlined, as the profile map of the line showed the fall to be greater than was at first estimated.

This will permit connection to be made with twenty-six houses, instead of only nineteen, as would have been the case along the first route. It is estimated that the sewer will cost between $2000 and $2500.

There is one success which has been steady about all attempts from the start of aviation."

"What is that?"

"It has always made the money fly."

Markets By Telegraph

Cotton.

New York, Sept. 25.—A renewal of scattered selling continued largely to unshaken nervousness over fears of adverse legislation, cost today's cotton market an opening advance, but reactions were followed by renewed strength, with prices reaching the highest point of the day in the last trading hour closing firm at a net gain of from 4 to 11 points.

Private cables attributed a sharp advance in Liverpool to covering by some of yesterday's sellers, and bad crop accounts from Texas. The market opened steadily in an advance of 3 to 10 points on the English showing, but immediately weakened under favorable crop reports from South Georgia and liquidations by houses with southern connections.

Liverpool's selling here was supposed to be ending of straddles, and the western forecast was for continued unsettled weather with still lower temperatures, and prices eased off to a net loss of from 2 to 5 points before the end of the morning.

After the close of Liverpool, offerings became less active and the market steadied on the weather reports showing general rains in Texas and Oklahoma, which were heavy at times, particularly accompanied by unusually low temperatures.

As prices fell, the buying became a little more general owing to increasing crop complaints from the southwest and reports of higher southern spot markets.

Trade houses were moderate buyers on the early decline and gave the market cautious support on the late rally but business on the whole was less active than earlier in the week.

Rather more optimistic reports as to the legislative outlook were circulating in the afternoon and probably helped the late advance.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Sept. 25.—The cotton market today was chiefly influenced by the reports coming from Washington regarding the deadlock in Congress over the proposed bill to amend the tariff bill.

The legitimate features of the market had little effect on prices and were passed unnoticed by the trade, which had its attention centered on Washington. In the afternoon the telegrams which were sent to the market from the market and Washington were more favorable in their tenor and quotations instantly responded. The decline of the middle of the day was made up and a net amount established. The tone of the market and prices were unchanged to points up compared with the close of yesterday.

Cables were better than due, and the weather map was called unfavorable because of heavy rains in Texas and Oklahoma and the cold wave threatening the cotton region.

Afternoon call prices were 3 to 4 points up. Liquidation of the long interest set in because of the uncertainty over the Clarke bill, and the market commenced to fall off. Around the middle of the morning prices were 8 to 10 points under yesterday's close. This was the low of the day.

At noon prices were still down, but in the afternoon the market gradually did better and late in the session went to 13 points over yesterday's final quotations.

The close was firm at a net rise of 9 to 12 points.

Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 25.—Poultry, firm; springers 15½c. Eggs unchanged.

Grain.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Wheat today broke to the lowest price of the year. Important hedging sales were in progress on account of remarkably heavy receipts piled in at Duluth, and other western terminals, and wheat prices though steady were 8¢ to 12¢ under night. Corn showed a net loss of ¾¢ to 1¼c; oats were off ¾¢ to 1½c to 1 cent and provisions varied from unchanged to a loss of 7½c.

Prices were depressed from the start and held steady, giving the chance to hamper the market. Many speculative longs, especially holders of small lots, were forced to let go as quotations tumbled. Rallies were only fractional and were due in the main to profit taking. Shorters, however, concerned, were holding persistent buyers on the weak spots.

It was the accepted belief that one of the bull leaders in corn was remaining on his investment. As a result, there was a good deal of rather aggressive short selling. In addition, the weather was fine, country sales of corn to arrive were freer and shipping calls were limited.

Canadian competition in the east formed a weight on the oats market, the fact that receipts decreased was ignored. Packers sold provisions, taking advantage of early firmness due to strength in the yards. The most active trading

Stocks.

New York, Sept. 25.—Stocks moved upward briskly in the first hour of trading today. The course of the market substantially illustrated the difficulties which at the present time stand in the way of successful operations on the long side. Before the morning session was half over the early gains had been cancelled.

The market thereafter was heavy, with substantial losses in many cases, which were cut down by a rally just before the close. The sharp advance with which the day began was based on professional initiative. There was considerable aggressiveness for the buy, according to which apparently were held in check by the uncertainties of the present political situation both here and abroad.

The effect of tariff and currency legislation, namely the Smoot-Hawley, and the fall devaluation in the money market are to be reckoned with at home, while the financial situation in the great European centers still arouses uneasiness abroad. The Bank of England's report yesterday hardly a strong one, showed a reduction of reserve to liability. A further reduction is not improbable next week, when the full strain of the quarterly settlements is felt. London's attitude towards this market was very uncertain. Selling stocks for foreign account was a considerable factor yesterday, but today as many shares were purchased by London as were unloaded yesterday. A few stocks were especially weak. People's Gas, recently a strong leader, was particularly points of denial of reports that the corporation was to absorb another lighting company, but later recovered its loss.

Bonds were irregular, with signs of waning interest in the present issues. Total sale per value, $1,525,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

FEAR OF MONOPOLY

CAUSE OF CONTENTION OVER PROPOSED COTTON RATE REDUCTION.

The Round Bale a Waco Invention.
Bart Moore, Back From Galveston Talks.

Bart Moore returned yesterday from Galveston, where he was called the first of this week to testify before the Interstate Commerce board in regard to the purposes and methods of the Original Round Bale company. He says that the hearing is attracting wide attention and cotton men from all over the United States are in attendance.

T. F. Bush said yesterday that he thought the granting of the contention of the round bale company for a one-third reduction of freight rates on their bales would create a monopoly. The industries which would be thrown out of operation throughout the south by such a monopoly are valued at several hundred millions. Although at the outset the reduction in rates on the round bale might prove a benefit to the cotton growers, it is the opinion of many local cotton men that the round bale company will establish a monopoly and the farmers will be as bad off or worse than before, and the only net result will be the destruction of an industry worth hundreds of millions.

In connection with the investigation of the round bale problem, it is of local interest to note that the round bale was invented and patented by Waco citizens, who organized a $7,000,000 company for its utilization in 1895.

It was invented by W. T. Bassett, now in the produce business in Waco. Bart Moore financed the patenting of the process, together with W. W. Soley. Several years were spent in perfecting the process and organizing a company with a capital stock of $7,000,000. Cotton men from the east, England and the Continent were brought to Waco to inspect the company's plant. The company, however, failed to meet with the expected success. The Waco promoters sold out their interests, and a few years later the company failed.

At the Temple.

Tonight marks the formal reopening of Temple Rodef Sholem for the holiday and weekly services of the year. The temple quartet will render the liturgical music, while the solos will be given by two of the talented singers of the city, Mrs. Miller and Mr. James. Rabbi Warsaw's sermons will be in the nature of a prelude to the religious worship and temple activities of the ensuing year according to the Jewish calendar.

The Sunday school will organize on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

An added feature in the services of the temple will be the Saturday morning worship. A special choir has been engaged for that end, under the leadership of Mrs. Wood.

WEATHER IS BAD FOR OPENINGS

FEW CAN VENTURE OUT BECAUSE OF THE STEADY DOWPOUR.

SHOWINGS ARE AGAIN TODAY

Living Models at Sangers—Exposition Style Is the Goldstein-Miguel Method.

Whether Dr. Block manipulated it or the Washington weather beaureau was responsible, it is a fact that yesterday was anything but propitious as an "opening day" for the new season.

Sanger Bros., Goldstein & Miguel company and A. C. Patton had announced they would display the new things for fall weather during "Opening Day," and that it would be the "opening of the season." If the weather yesterday on the outside is anything like what it will be all season, the handsome things shown inside won't fit this climate, but rubber boots and slickers will have to be resorted to for general wear. The rain came down in torrents, commencing before daybreak and continuing throughout the day. During the forenoon the streets ran as rivers and the downpour was enough to discourage the most anxious shopper, so plans for entertainment at the shops for women were all awry, and pretty things waited in windows and in showrooms unlock upon and unadmirable. Later in the day there was a slight let-up in the rain, but just a slight one and the more courageous ventured out so that during the afternoon the shop people had to close up, and the day was lost altogether lost. However, it was intended also to continue the "opening" today, so that there is yet an opportunity for those who want to see the most recent creations in wearables and in millinery, and there will be another than the three open to visitors, Mrs. Lizzie Egan McDonnell having fixed today for her display at the Fashion Bazaar.

At Sanger's.

At Sanger's the feature was the showing of the new things with living models. Young women from New York, carrying the most correct pose, stepping the most correct step, and adding now and then the most correct swagger as it is known in the East, walked well attired as show pieces for those who called to see the display. The show room was fitted up for the occasion. At one end was a stage after the manner of a theatre stage. There were plush curtains, armchairs, and more, and then through an aperture made by drawing these curtains there stepped a living model. A promenade was arranged between long streamers of white ribbon, and on each side were chairs for the visitors. Each appearance of a model indicated another suit and hat, and as the model appeared there was an announcement of the name of the costume, with its price and the name of the hat with its price. The young women promenaded back and forth several times with each costume, so as to let each one get the full benefit of its effect. Although the bad weather kept many at home, there were a large number of spectators. Sprinkled in with the visitors were many of the employes of the store, from Sam Sanger himself down to the cash boy, all interested in the models in display. It was interesting and entertaining, and the ladies who were present had a good view of the fashions for the coming season.

Because of the bad weather the full program could not be carried out yesterday, but it will be today and these living models will be seen forenoon, afternoon and evening.

At the Goldstein & Miguel Company.

At Goldstein & Miguel's the show room was fitted up after the manner of a great exhibition hall, such as it would be if the models were being displayed at some exposition. There were booths formed with exhibition railings about them, and inside these were the inanimate models showing the latest and most complete costumes of the season's offerings. Visitors had the opportunity to see them at any angle and to observe the drapery effects, the fit and the exact styles. The displays included the most approved costumes for street and for evening wear, and the manner of the showing was such as all who called. This display will be shown again today, the hope and the expectation being that better weather will be assured the women of the city.

Living Models Add Much to the Fall Opening

Displaying the new Fall Suits and Gowns, as well as the New Millinery on professional living models has added much to the brilliancy of the Fall Opening. It is the first time that professional living models have ever appeared in Waco and the fact that these ladies have been brought here from New York City is in itself an indication of the broad scale upon which this event was planned.

Again We Invite You To Be Our Guests

The living models will appear tonight from 7:15 until 9:15 and this morning from 9:30 to 11:30, and this afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30. During the morning they will display Suits and Street Dresses and Millinery and in the afternoon they are to wear Reception and Evening Dresses and Millinery suitable for these occasions.

Austin Avenue Flooded

The sewer just below the crossing of Austin avenue over Waco creek, which overflowed as a result of the rain, damaged the stream to such an extent that water was backed up the creek for several hundred yards, and flooded Austin avenue for two hundred feet on each side of the bridge.

The sewer was put in to redeem the land along the creek below the bridge. The ground was leveled over and converted into residence lots. When the rains caused the concrete work to give way yesterday, it formed a dam about twelve feet high.

Judge W. E. Spell and others, who reside in the vicinity, have brought the matter to the attention of the street department, with the recommendation that the sewer be rebuilt under the supervision of the county and city engineers. The sewer is a few yards beyond the city limits.

Rainfall Breaks Record.

A report from Bosqueville last night was to the effect that no little damage in the aggregate had been done by the heavy rainfall at that point. The precipitation for the day was 3 1/2 inches, which breaks the September rainfall record in that locality.

Did Bell Button Bite You? A good deal of amusement was created on the street cars yesterday by the bell buttons. Said buttons became clogged. A finger tip touched to one of them brought a sharp shock. The passengers had their trips to and from town enlivened by watching for the innocent ones who tried to ring the bell.

Mayor Permits the Banking of Interurban Cars Oct. 30.

The Southern Traction company yesterday received permission from the mayor and street commissioner to stop the interurban cars on the square for a period of about two hours on the 29th of this month, when the excursion from Hillsboro will come down to celebrate the interurban opening. It is expected that the visitors may have difficulty in finding their way back to the cars, so the interurbans will all be banked together in the central location on the square, where they can be seen from the far end of Austin street. Harvey Ross of the traction company said that he was looking for about 500 members of the Hillsboro delegation.
